SATURDAY BE TAG DAY FOR FLOAT FUND

Business Women Asked to Take Charge Fund

TO DECIDE TONIGHT
Mrs. George Moyse to Address Members This Evening

Members of the executive committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club met Monday evening in the office of Dr. Laura Brown with Mrs. Margaret Briggs presiding.

Secretary James L. Rhoades of the chamber of commerce, and Mrs. Mabel Tight, addressed the committee, requesting that the club take charge of a tag day sale Saturday next, for the Glendale float. Later in the session the committee voted to undertake the commission, subject to ratification by the full club at its meeting tonight, and Dr. Laura Brown, who has had experience in such sales, was tentatively named as chairman of the tag day committee. The committee also voted a donation to the float fund of $10.

Proposed amendments to the constitution were read and approved and will be submitted to the club for consideration tonight and voted on at the next meeting following.

Miss Pollard, as chairman of the gymnasium committee, reported the agreement of the school authorities to the formation of a second gym class, to meet Thursday evenings, provided 15 or more members could be secured.

Miss Warner, chairman of the rest-room committee, and Dr. Caroline Jackman, reported their investigations relative to securing one suitably located, and the committee was requested to continue its investigations.

The full club will meet tonight at 9 o'clock at the chamber of commerce and will be addressed by Mrs. George U. Moyse relative to vocational guidance.

AMAZON ARMY HAS KANSAS MINERS ON RUN TODAY

Hundreds of Women Invade Mines and Drive
Miners Out

GIRARD, Kan., Dec. 13.—An "Amazon army" throwing red pepper, bricks, stones and lumps of coal, swept through the southern Kansas coal fields today, mobbing five mines and forcing miners to quit work. Skirts and shawls flying, the women, wives and relatives of "rump" strikers, swept down on the mines and in many instances, put the working miners to flight with their fists.

Fiercely, like tigresses, the women clawed and in some instances used their teeth on miners who failed to heed their warning cries of "get out of here, you dirty traitors."

Several miners were bruised by missiles; others almost blinded by the shower of red pepper. Four Jackson-Mulberry mines and another near Mulberry were "cleaned out." The women, mostly farmers, jerseyed, shawled and picturesque, then turned their attention to another Mulberry mine.

"We'll run every Lewis' traitor off the job in southern Kansas," their leaders shouted.

HOLD UP CHECKS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—A lot of checks to some $500,000 worth of ex-soldiers, who are taking federal training and hospital treatment over the country, will be held up, it was learned late today at the United States veterans' bureau. This is due to the senate's failure to act quickly enough on the deficiency bill giving the veterans' bureau $40,000,000.

POMONA WOMAN MEETS DEATH IN MYSTERY FIRE

POMONA, Dec. 13.—Mrs. Katie Swain was burned to death and property valued at $50,000 was destroyed in an early morning fire which burned the small shop in which the woman lived, and the feed and fuel store of B. Hinman & Co., which adjoined it. Considerable mystery surrounds the fire, as only a few days ago a blaze was discovered in the shop but extinguished before it could do much damage, and since that time Mrs. Swain is said to have received a threatening letter.

Spirit of Christmas Beautifully Expressed by Mr. Foley Tonight

Yes, there's something wakes your spirit—
It's the glory that was His.
There's a new dream wakes
within you,
Christmas—yes, that's what it is.

This is the manner in which James W. Foley expresses the spirit of Christmas in "The Listening Post" tonight. It is a very beautiful bit of sentiment expressed in verse.

Henry James in his comments on the news of the day on the editorial page, asks you to stop for a moment and consider the four corners formed by the crossing of two city streets. Then he deals with the folly of carelessness at crossings and concludes that there is no protection against the speed maniac and perhaps he is right.

Dr. Frank Crane says in his article tonight on the editorial page that the pest of the business world is substitution. And he finds that there is substitution for love and joy and independence and he speaks of them. What he says has deep meaning and you should read it.

You will find other features and splendid editorials on the editorial page tonight and all are worthy your consideration.

BRITON VISITOR SAYS U. S. PROSPER

LONDON, Dec. 13.—Sir Arthur Newsholme, formerly member of the Ministry of Health, discussing prohibition in America on his return here after a two years' visit to the United States, hammered another nail into the lid of the "medicine chest."

"The American public," he said, "will endorse the action already taken, and will insist on its continuance and extension, and prohibition, in my view, will remain in operation as the law of the land."

Sir Arthur views the question from the standpoint of the persons made to suffer in consequence of other persons' drinking.

"Liberation of the many from unfair conditions rather than personal liberty, which might easily become license," he says, "the present social desideratum. The case for compulsion, and it is a good one, is that moral suasion acts slowly on minorities and mean-while multitudes of innocent persons continue to suffer, and the community suffers in pocket and in efficiency."

STOCKING IS RECEIVED FOR SOME CHILD

Former Buckeye State
Citizen Brings First
Stocking

WHO WILL BE NEXT?
Many Worthy and Needy
Children in Glendale to Remember

Some Glendale child is going to be happy. In response to the appeal of the Glendale Daily Press to the people of the city, the good old state of Ohio comes along with one of her former citizens as her representative and places the first filled stocking, with its mate alongside, at the disposal of the Glendale Daily Press to give to some needy and worthy child on Christmas eve.

The stocking is well filled with things that children like, and after the child empties the stocking, he or she will have a new pair of stockings, too.

Ohio was brought to the Glendale Daily Press with a card attached which says, "A Merry Christmas from Ohio Friends." The givers would not tell their names because they want to be the "unknown Santa Claus" and they are getting their reward in knowing that they are going to make one child happy in Glendale. They will seal themselves at the Christmas dinner table knowing that they have provided the means for making some little one know that God is in Heaven and all is well with the world.

It is more blessed to give than to receive, we are told in the Bible. People who have tried it say it is so.

Ohio has started the ball rolling. What state will be second? Maybe some native son or daughter will be second. The poorer children can be made happy on very little in the way of Christmas gifts. The stockings themselves will be very welcome, and its contents will bring smiles where tears have been perhaps, tears that come when the poor children realize that there seems no chance for them to know that joys that come with Christmas, the anniversary of the birth of the Great Giver, the One who preached charity, unselfishness and peace on earth.

There are many married people in Glendale who are not blessed with children who can be made happy by making someone's else child glad. There are many married people in Glendale who know the joy Christmas brings to their children when they open their gifts. Faith, hope and charity are the greatest elements in life, and charity sort of edges away the other two, especially at Christmas time. Let this be so in your Christmas year—pinch a little off some where else and give to the poor and the needy children. You will be bountifully rewarded.

SCHOOL BOARD TO MEET TONIGHT TO OPEN BIDS

Will Sell School Site
Never Used for School
Purposes

The board of education will meet this evening and receive bids for the school site that was never used, sometimes called the Eighth street site, now that Maple is being cut through to the city limits. It is in the heart of a tract that has been subdivided by R. W. Meeker and others and is to be platted into lots.

Architects selected for the new intermediate to be built at Glendale and Park avenue on the Turkey property, and for the various permanent buildings to be erected on the campuses of other schools. Alfred P. Priest and George M. Lindsey are at work on their problems and will not be prepared to submit rough drawings at this meeting.

While there are many nice features in the Broadway school that the board has expressed a desire to have incorporated in the new intermediate, its members realize the building must be adapted to its site, with due regard to money allotted and material to be employed.

The city schools will close one week from today, on Wednesday, December 20. There will be simple Christmas exercises in all the buildings that afternoon.

BIG VOTE

LONDON, Dec. 13.—Best estimates of the promised vote in the house of commons Wednesday on the Anglo-Irish treaty today indicated ratification would be accepted ten to one.

Why Do the Trains Rush By Without a Glendale Stop?

By JOHN H. GERRIE

Prosperity Editor Glendale Daily Press

Glendadians! What have you to say about THIS? Your beautiful city of 30,000 enthusiastic dwellers and growing faster than any community of its class in the world is NOT IMPORTANT ENOUGH to be on the railroad map!

Glendale the Beautiful! Glendale the Marvelous! But with NO STATUS in the railroad time table!

If you entertained any precipitous impression that your town was "some pumpkins," that impression will be corrected to date by a glance at any Southern Pacific time folder. The main line of that carrier system between San Francisco and Los Angeles, by both coast and valley routes, skirts along the entire western boundary line of this city, INSIDE THE CITY LIMITS—but that is all it does, JUST SKIMS!

If you look at the time table of the San Joaquin Valley route you will NOT FIND GLENDAL at all. But you WILL FIND BURBANK and other important stopping places like San Fernando and Saugus and Ravenna and Palmdale and Rosamond, which of course must be quite familiar to you.

If you scan the time table of the coast route you will find seventy-five stations listed. Of these, fifty-three are regular stops and twenty-two are flag stations. Glendale is honored with a place in this list AMONG THE FLAG STATIONS!

That means some of the slower trains on the main line may stop IF THEY ARE FLAGGED!

Burbank is a REGULAR stop. Glendale is a FLAG stop, perhaps!

Glendale is ranked LOWER THAN A WATER TANK, for even the "limited" stops at water tanks. It is in the same class as such well known and progressive communities as Raymer, Zelzah, Hasson, Simi, Edfu and Orteg, all this side of Santa Barbara. It is rated below Burbank, San Fernando, Piru, Santa Paula and Satocoy on the valley route where trains stop without flagging.

This is a pretty fine advertisement for Glendale, is it NOT?

When a business man, whose time is precious, runs down from Seattle or Portland or San Francisco to take a look at Glendale he doesn't get a chance to look. The train rushes him through and he suddenly finds himself in the midst of the traffic mess in Los Angeles. By the time he gets out of that he is ready to start back.

"If the train doesn't stop, it cannot be much of a place" will be his natural impression of Glendale. And if he's swayed by impressions he'll never get here.

Lack of a station and scheduled stops must easily have LOST MANY THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS to Glendale.

There is, of course, the old Tropico station, now labelled "Glendale," but it is at the far end of the city and used for freight only. Even if an engine driver did make a mistake and stopped and a surprised passenger alighted, the latter would have difficulty in extricating himself from his nameless surroundings. He would find no platform, no sidewalk, no lights, no busses, no street cars, no policeman, nothing to help him find his way into Glendale.

The neglect of Glendale by the railroad is an INSULT and an INJURY to this fair city.

To make full atonement and at the same time do a good stroke of business for itself the Southern Pacific company ought to build a handsome and commodious passenger station in the vicinity of Broadway and San Fernando road, its closest point to the business center of this city, and use it as the depot not only for GLENDAL, but also for PASADENA, HOLLYWOOD and other cities that could be more expeditiously reached from here than through the congested traffic of Los Angeles.

Officials of the railroad have promised the local Chamber of Commerce that four trains a day each way will stop at the old Tropico station WHEN A NEW SCHEDULE is made out. But it is due Glendale that ALL THE TRAINS stop at a real Glendale station close to the heart of Glendale, where street cars and busses may connect for Pasadena and Hollywood and way stations.

And while the Southern Pacific ignores Glendale in its time table, its subsidiary, the Pacific Electric, deliberately routes its new feeder stage lines so as to CARRY SHOPPERS INTO LOS ANGELES without giving them a chance to be tempted by the window displays in Brand boulevard and Broadway. The stages, running through the outskirts on either side, deliver their passengers to the regular P. E. trains at Cypress avenue, which is a SAFE DISTANCE FROM THE GLENDAL SHOPS!

Fine friends Glendale possesses in the rail lines it helps to fatten!

Another reason for the GO GETTERS!

MORE NAMES ARE ADDED TO CHAMBER

New members to be presented to the chamber of commerce board of directors at their weekly meeting today are as follows:

Burbank Milling company, Clay Craft Potteries, Enterprise Furniture company, Troncie Wiley Shop, Highway Lumber company, Japan Art and Tea company, Meneley Co., Fred L. Pendroy Dry Goods company, Robertson, Will M.; Werette, Stoner & Sawyer; Wright, John B.

CHIEF MARTIN EXONERATED BY COUNCIL

Investigation of Former Detective's Charge Is Held

NO WRONG IS DONE

Scales Denies He Made
Slandorous Statements
When Fired

Charges preferred against Chief of Police Allen O. Martin by former Detective Sergeant Scales of the Glendale police department were heard Monday night by members of the city council and others interested in the case. Chief Martin was vindicated by the council.

Former Detective Scales was recently dismissed from the department for calling another officer vile names and threatening him. At the time of his dismissal he refused to turn in his badge and handcuffs, stating he had been hired by the city council and that organization would have to fire him.

Scales also made the charge that Chief of Police Martin had accepted a bribe of $25 for not prosecuting a case against Jack Norman, arrested in November on the charge of securing subscriptions to a nationally known publication at a rate that was never authorized by the publishers.

The case was tried and Norman entered a plea of guilty to the charges. He was released upon his promise to make good all money collected fraudulently. He left money with Chief Martin to make good these collections and when the money was paid, a receipt for the amount was secured by the chief and filed. The $25 referred to by Scales was received as a reward and not paid to secure the release of Norman and was turned over to the city treasurer to be placed in the police fund. Chief of Police Martin has the city treasurer's receipt for the amount.

In his charges against the chief, Scales alleged that no charge was ever filed against Jack Norman and that he was released. Judge F. H. Lowe testified that charges had been filed against Norman and that he was tried. Court records upheld this statement.

It is alleged that Scales had made slanderous statements against Chief Martin after his dismissal. Scales was questioned by Chief Martin at the hearing Monday night regarding these alleged statements and he denied having made them.

After the hearing the members of the city council adjourned to meet in the committee room. Councilman Dwight Stephenson failed to agree with the majority of the body in several instances during the discussion of the merits of the case after the testimony had been heard.

The majority report signed by Mayor Robinson and Councilmen Davis, Kimlin and Lapham is as follows:

"We find that no intentional wrong has been committed by anyone connected with this case. But it shall be the future policy of this council that all monies collected in the shape of rewards or gratuities, either by the police or fire departments, or any other department, shall be immediately reported to the city council, who shall decide what disposition shall be made of said monies."

The minority report signed by Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson is as follows:

"I find that no intentional wrong has been committed by anyone connected with this case. I do, however, find that Chief A. O. Martin erred in judgment. I agree with the majority that in the future all monies collected in the shape of rewards or gratuities, either by the police, fire or any other department, shall be forthwith reported to the city council, who shall decide what disposition shall be made of said monies."

HUNTING PARTY TO GO AFTER DUCKS

Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Young, Dr. and Mrs. L. C. Rankin, and Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Baird are to enjoy a week-end hunting trip at Calipatria. A portion of the party will leave Friday at 3 a. m. by automobile. H. Reeve Darling, the bird man, who lives at 1519 South Brand, and who conducts the flower shop in the Hayward hotel, will shop in the city face streets which are about to be improved. It is hoped that all friends of those schools will attend the meeting and participate in the effort to reach a solution of the problem inasmuch as the board of education is not compelled to make the improvements as it has no funds available for the purpose.

The second performance comes off Thursday evening and the third Friday night. Whoever misses it will miss a good thing and suffer from a bad conscience.

Interest is broadening in the mass meeting to be held Friday night at the Doran Street school to consider ways and means of financing the improvement of streets abutting on the school campus, in connection with present proceedings for the improvement of streets in that section. The attitude of the Japanese delegates to the Washington conference is disgraceful," charged the Hochi, another Tokyo newspaper.

"The quadruple agreement is better than nothing," was the comment of Baron Kato, opposition leader.

REAL SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS IS HELPING OTHERS

You express the real spirit of Christmas when you do something for some one else—when you make use of an opportunity to brighten a life that otherwise would be dark and dreary.

We ask you out of your generosity and gratitude to donate a pair of stockings for some poor boy or girl that needs them and to go to the trouble of filling one of the stockings like Santa Claus does. After you have completed this act, bring the stockings to the office of this newspaper and on Christmas we will see that it goes to some boy or girl that actually needs it.

Don't let some one else do this for you. Go to the nearest store and buy a pair of stockings then take them home and have the joy of filling one of them. You will find it a joy, that we promise you.

You would be surprised if you knew that there are homes in this city where Christmas will mean absolutely nothing unless you send this ray of sunshine into them. You, perhaps, have children of your own and you know what joy they look forward to Christmas. Don't you think you ought to share some of this joy with a child that will have none of it unless you do this kindly act?

We know of homes here where the only Christmas greeting will be the stockings which this newspaper will see they get. Absolutely nothing else. Can't you imagine the joy and eagerness with which the child will dig into that stocking for the treasures you put into it? Can you resist doing just this little act of kindness at this Christmas season?

All we ask is a pair of stockings—and one of them filled, that's all.

With typical American simplicity, the great document, considered one of the most important in the history of the world, was signed in the office of Secretary of State Hughes. Only the plenipotentiaries of the four powers were present. The pomp and ceremony which usually attended such important events was entirely absent.

Only one copy of the treaty was signed. This will be retained by the United States government, which will furnish certified copies to the other signatory powers. The Japanese signed in English.

Just as the signing of the treaty was completed it was learned on highest authority at the White House that President Harding does not intend to submit to the senate for ratification until after the close of the arms conference.

All of the delegates also formally signed the treaty. One American representative, the one on one Yap, settled yesterday, and one to the effect that the treaty shall not be construed to interfere with American domestic questions.

After signing the treaty the delegates of various countries were kept busy for nearly half an hour signing photographs of both of the plenary session and of themselves.

HARRIS WROTE UP SHEAF OF CHECKS

Several More Victims of Painter Harris Report
Today

That E. Harris, who left Glendale after he is alleged to have passed off checks for more than $500, worked thoroughly in the matter of defrauding business houses, is evidenced by the fact that reports of worthless checks passed by him are still being made to the police, according to Chief Martin.

Monday afternoon, W. E. Heald, Glendale jeweler, reported that Harris had purchased a watch valued at $25.00 from him and had paid for it with a worthless check. This morning Charles A. Flagg of the Glendale Furniture company turned over to the police a check that he cashed for Harris just before he did the vanishing act. The check is for $30 and was supposed to be signed by W. E. Heald. Flagg signed that the check was given in payment of an account amounting to $3 and that Harris had received $22 in currency as the difference.

Nothing is a better test of the initiative and up-to-date spirit of a school, than such performances, and all real friends of the school welcome the chance to see the students perform and to encourage all the manifestations of art they display. A student body which undertakes to bring artists to the school for lectures and musical performances, which takes care of expenses in connection with all student body activities such as games, debates, etc., cannot carry out a program without money. Glendale is proud of the standing of its school with others schools and as a rule is glad to show its appreciation by patronizing school talent. It is the more deserving in this instance because the limited size of the school auditorium makes necessary a triple performance to accommodate the audiences expected. When we have the new high school to which we are looking forward, the actors will not have to triple their work.

Four Great Powers Sign
Ten Year Peace on Pacific

NO RUFFLES, FRILLS

President May Not Ask

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The four great powers of the world today affixed their signatures to a treaty which scraps the Anglo-Japanese alliance and solemnly pledges to preserve peace across the vast expanses of the Pacific ocean.

With typical American simplicity, the great document, considered one of the most important in the history of the world, was signed in the office of Secretary of State Hughes. Only the plenipotentiaries of the four powers were present. The pomp and ceremony which usually attended such important events was entirely absent.

CHEWING GUM HAS FOUND ONE NEED FOR EXISTENCE

Surgeons Prescribe Gum to Restore Jaw Muscles to Normal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—One of the most unusual treatments in the history of medical science is being administered to Major Ramee, of the Thirtieth United States Infantry, at the Walter Reed Hospital here.

Major Ramee recently was giving instruction at Fort Niagara, N. Y., in rifle practice to members of the infantry team which won second honors in the national rifle shoot at Camp Perry, Ohio, when he sustained his injury. During one of the practice sessions, while he was demonstrating how it should be done, his rifle "back-fired," tearing away part of the flesh of his cheek between the eyes and the mouth and leaving severe powder burns.

He was sent to the Walter Reed Hospital here, maintained by the Government for the benefit of veterans maimed while in Government military service, and underwent hasty repairs, enabling him to leave the hospital in time to direct the picked infantry team in the national shoot in September.

Following the national contests, in which members of Major Ramee's team concede their defeat to be due to the accident their leader had suffered, Major Ramee returned to Walter Reed Hospital for further treatment. It was found necessary to cut away a part of the flesh. When the wound healed the major's jaw muscles were drawn so taut that he could not open his mouth.

Confronted by this puzzling predicament, the surgeons who performed the operation solved the problem by resourcefully prescribing the unusual treatment that Major Ramee is now undergoing. It is simply chewing large masses of gum at intervals. He crams five packages (consisting of five sticks in each package) of chewing gum into his mouth at once, on the advice of his physicians, and chews vigorously every few hours. The idea, it was said at the hospital, is to make more elastic the drawn muscles, so that they will be restored to normal, enabling him to use his mouth unhampered.

Major Ramee's regular station is at Camp Lewis, Tacoma, Washington. It is hoped that the unusual treatment he is now undergoing will prove successful. He hopes to recover in sufficient time to head the championship infantry team next year.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS HAVE CEREMONIAL

The Soangetaha Camp Fire girls held an initiation on Saturday night at the home of Miss Emma Laura Cooper, 302 North Central avenue. The new members who were initiated were Miss Selma Carver, Miss Eloise Truitt, Miss Valera Trimmer, Miss Marjorie Gunion and Miss Elaine Butt.

The initiation was a very unique one indeed, when all the girls came dressed in hiking suits all put on backwards. The new members were marched up town where they had to pass out tooth picks to people coming out of the local theaters. Next they marched over to Roberts & Echols drug store in front of which a bucket of water had been spilled, and they were requested to clean up the water with toothbrushes.

Later they went back to the home of their hostess, where refreshments were served. There were about 17 girls present and they were chaperoned up town by Misses Mildred and Ruth Cole by their guardian, Miss Gillson, being ill.

LITERARY SECTION WITH MRS. HOLLINGSWORTH

A very profitable meeting was that of the literary section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, which met Monday at the home of the curator, Mrs. F. L. Hollingsworth on Riverside drive.

Mrs. A. M. Williams gave the review of current magazines, and Mrs. Frank Ayars of "The Americanization of Edward Bok," which was followed by an informal discussion, which Mrs. Ayars led. The chief point brought out was that foreigners who look to Americans for example are often misled.

There was informal talk about the recent club bazaar and its results, and announcement was made that the next meeting of the section will be January 9 at the home of the curator, when New Year's editorials will be the theme.

MUSICAL PROGRAM FOR THURSDAY CLUB

The Thursday Afternoon Club is meeting this week at the Hartzell Studio on the corner of Brand and Laurel street, where a musical program will be given by "The Strolling Musicians." It will be an open meeting to which members will be privileged to bring friends. As the president, Mrs. E. V. Bacon, is confined to her home by illness, the vice-president, Mrs. A. J. Becker, will preside.

Final arrangements will be made for the community Christmas tree and the program to be given in connection therewith. Miss Brennaman, director of music in the city schools, has been rehearsing 30 girls on Christmas carols in preparation for the Christmas celebration, and recitations will be given by pupils of the eighth grade.

ROBERT DANNERS HOSTS AT DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Danner of 1631 Gardena avenue entertained last night at a chicken dinner in honor of their son Goldburn's 14th birthday. The guests were school chums of the honor guest and included Robert Murphy, Donald Tyler, Richard Ryan and Don Danner. After the dinner had been served, several piano selections were given by Robert Murphy.

Later in the evening all the boys attended a local theater and had a very enjoyable evening. Goldburn was the recipient of several useful gifts.

GLENDALE PEOPLE GUESTS AT BURBANK

The Soangetaha Lodge at Burbank entertained last night at an oyster supper, after which dancing and cards were enjoyed.

Those who attended from Glendale included Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Bruck and son Herbert, Mr. and Mrs. John Lawyer, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Ward and son George, Mrs. Robert Danner and daughter Dorothy and Harry Schaefer. A very pleasant evening was spent.

EXECUTIVE BOARD MET ON MONDAY

The executive board meeting of the Pacific avenue P. T. A. was held Monday afternoon at 2:15 at the school, for the purpose of talking over the last minute plans for the bazaar to be held Friday, December 16 at the school. Every room mother has had the responsibility of an individual booth for that afternoon and evening and contributions have been promised which will help to make the affair a success.

Mrs. Truman Curtis, philanthropic chairman reported that she had attended a meeting of all the philanthropic chairmen of Glendale recently where work for Christmas was planned. There being no further business, the meeting adjourned.

COMMUNITY TREE NEXT TUESDAY NIGHT

The community Christmas tree program will be given on Tuesday evening, December 20, at the Magnolia street school. There will be songs by the choir of the Presbyterian church, and recitations by Miss Elsie Whitney.

Mrs. Anna L. Curtis, principal of Cerritos street school is in charge of the children's part of the program. They are planning on a very interesting program.

HIGH "Y" GROUPS MET MONDAY NIGHT

Two Hi Y groups met Monday night at the First Methodist church. One which is under the leadership of Carl Seitter is in the preliminary stage of organization and this was its third meeting. The early part of the session was devoted to Bible study which was followed by formal organization which resulted in the election of Fred Peck as president and Gene Schuler as secretary-treasurer. A talk followed the business session and then games were played. This group will meet Monday evenings in the basement of the church. It is making plans for a hike during the Christmas vacation.

A group under the leadership of Harry Marple also met at the church, and the Epworth League of which G. Edwin Murphy is president, had a business and social session, the games being followed by the serving of refreshments of sandwiches and coffee.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CABINET MEETING

The Sunday School cabinet of Central Christian church met Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Jodon, 132 South Glenwood street with about 20 present. Every phase of Sunday school work was discussed, and plans were made for a Christmas "White Gifts for the King," which means that instead of gifts being given the children they each bring something wrapped in white.

These gifts are laid at the foot of a white cross and are later taken to the county hospital or sent to Siberia and the Far-East. After the business meeting refreshments were served by the hostess.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

The monthly meeting of the Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations instead of taking place at the intermediate school, will be held at the home of the president, Mrs. John Robert White, on North Orange street.

The chairman of departments in all the parent-teacher associations of the city have been invited, and an entertaining program has been arranged which will make it somewhat of a Christmas party.

BLUE BIRD BRIDGE CLUB MEETING

The Blue Bird Bridge club was entertained by Mrs. Earl Hutchinson of 446 Palm Drive, Saturday evening. The color scheme of blue and gold was carried out in the rooms and table decorations. A very enjoyable evening was spent in playing bridge, high score being won by Mrs. Hutchinson and second prize by Mr. Hutchinson and Mr. Greensides won third. The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Louis Weber.

RADIOGRAPHY IS AIDED BY DISCOVERY

LONDON, Dec. 13.—An important scientific discovery, making it possible for surgeons to obtain more accurate location of foreign objects in the human body than is at present attainable, was disclosed at the annual exhibition of the Royal Photographic Society.

The discovery, the outcome of researches carried out by the society, will, it is stated, take radiography to a much higher scientific plane than has hitherto been possible. The new process, it is claimed, will enable operator to take a photograph of the growth, showing not only what it is but also its exact location, depth and position.

It is also claimed that the new process will considerably reduce the risk of X-rays dermatitis, which has ended fatally in the case of more than a dozen research pioneers, and at the same time permit a larger number of exposures to be taken without inconveniencing the patient.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You can Bring Back Color and Lustre with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.—Advertisement.

Truths in Epigram

Great thoughts come from the heart. — Marquid of Vauvenargues (1715-1747).

Art is long, life short; judgment difficult, opportunity transient. — Goethe (1749-1832).

"Then I begin to think that it is very true which is commonly said, that the one half of the world knoweth not how the other half liveth. — Rabelais (1495-1553).

STATUS OF RADICALISM

The report of Attorney General Daugherty, just made public, is of extreme interest. But for a faith in the soundness of the average American's principles, it will might be read with apprehension. It points to elements and forces that, given free play, could endanger the government, threaten the integrity of society, and the destruction of the whole scheme of industry. But these elements can not dominate, and the forces can be held in check.

Mr. Daugherty says that communist parties in this country have united to more effectively carry on propaganda "and the policy to gain control of labor organizations."

Thus they stand forth as the greatest enemies of organized labor. Many of the leaders of this movement, Daugherty declares to be American citizens, "though they are subject to orders from Moscow as to their action and activities in the United States."

It is idle for these disloyal visionaries to dream that the United States is to be controlled from Moscow. The people here have beheld the colossal failure of communism in that land. They observe that Russia eats the bread of charity; that it is without government, without direction. In part it is the oligarchy of a handful of tyrants cruel as the worst of the czars. In part it is an aggregation of helpless millions living in misery, but living in hope of better days, and knowing that whatever is to bring such days must be applied from without. The latent energies of Russia have been wasted. There is now no leadership capable of turning this waste into potency and sending it along proper channels.

Yet from wretched Moscow, wreck of former glory, shadow of former strength, comes the influence that is to end the republic of the United States, banish the freedom its people have fought for and revere, and establish here the rule that rests as a canker and blight over the domain where Russia should be rich, prosperous and content!

Was ever grosser absurdity formulated in the human mind!

Foreign propagandists are still flocking to the United States the attorney general's report asserts.

Why are they permitted to flock? To turn them back from Ellis Island, when official oversight has permitted them to come that far, would be simpler than routing them from their secret dens and their open iniquities, and herding them down to the docks.

It is to be remembered that policies once deemed radical by Americans, are now acceptable to the most conservative. Time was, and not long ago, when conservatism was horrified at the mere mention of the initiative and referendum and recall; when there were shudders of dismay at the thought of direct election of senators.

Compared with the status of a few years back, this country is now on a radical basis. It is there by common consent and with general approval. Each social equation fearlessly demands its rights. Each is recognized as having rights that once would have been withheld. But if factions contend, they contend as Americans. They contend with loyalty in their hearts for the institutions of the country.

With the imported radicalism, that means death to wholesome liberty, to prosperity, and to ambition and hope, they have no part and no practice. They view with resentment and loathing. They abhor the range and unclean creatures who come preaching to them. They are not taking orders from Moscow. In other words, this is not a nation of fools and blind, but of intelligence, decent morals, a sense of values; and from Russia it has no lesson to learn, for as Russia may be posed as a "horrible example."

A COMING TEST

Word is received from Paris that skirts are to be longer. Paris is a very interesting city. The mere fact that skirts there are to be lengthened may therefore possess a certain interest. That it should have any effect on the length of skirt to be worn in the United States, particularly in the Pacific coast section, does not by any means follow.

The women of America have found the short skirt coming, convenient, highly sanitary. It promotes quickness of motion, permits walking without weariness, gathers no dust from the pavement. It is as modest as any garment. The observer to whom it seems immodest needs to search his own soul. Soon the fashion plates will be demanding a return to the long and cumbersome skirt. The modiste will cumber to the influence at once, and urge patrons lay aside comfort because somebody in Paris had decided that to be comfortable had ceased to be fashionable.

Women are showing independence in many things. One of them on a jury, and see. They are ending with credit in many activities in which once they had been deemed to have no part, or only permitted to share on suffrage. They hold definite positions as to many public questions. They direct their own households in accordance with personal desire.

Are they going to submit to the order to abandon their skirts? Because Parisian women lolling along the racetrack have set the pattern? The matter will soon be tested. If the women do, their course will be regretted not only as the port of the inartistic, and deference to persons not serving of deference, but as indicative of weakness displayed in other ways.

LIGHT ON CHINA

Guy M. Walker, writing on the subject of China, says some remarkably enlightening things. This is none the less true because of the rather unfortunate setting of this thesis in a newspaper that ordinarily would not be chosen by an author desirous of convincing his readers. Mr. Walker rises splendidly above his environment.

This may be quoted from his article, although much else is well worth quoting:

"China is more than a people. It is a race instinct which has as yet been confined to its present habitat by the difficulties imposed by nature against its spread, but as modern civilization furnishes railroads and other means of transportation, China, the Chinese and the Chinese spirit will spread out of their present bounds all over Asia. The only hope that exists for survival by the Japanese is absorption into the Chinese race."

The last sentence may seem startling and yet there appears no reason for not accepting it as reasonable. In shorter terms it virtually has been said before, many times.

That for any indefinite span, little Japan was to be permitted to play with the Chinese giant, seemed not only incongruous, but impossible. Japan has acted as though China were a patient, chloroformed and helpless, to be carved at will by diplomatic surgeons.

Perhaps it is time for Japan to take warning, and for the other powers to treat China as a nation, a power, a vastly potent aggregation of millions of human beings actuated by principle, capable of hate, capable of fighting; gradually being aroused to the emotion of patriotism, to a sense of continued wrong.

China has existed for thousands of years. Japan, in its present status, was born so short a time ago that memory might term it yesterday. The terrible infant is not qualified to outline the destiny of its ancient neighbor.

WHERE CONGRESS BLUNDERED

When congress was considering the present immigration law, the fact was mentioned in these columns that the measure was bunglesome, inadequate and certain to lead to confusion. Congress overlooked the implied advice. The law has been proved bunglesome, inadequate, and has led to confusion.

The essence of the statute is that aliens may be admitted only in proportion to the number of their nationality already here. To apply this with exactness would require immigration officials to have knowledge of the birth rate down to the latest pair of twins, clearly an impossibility. In the attempt to apply the law, families have been divided at the dock. Naturalized citizens have been embarrassed by the effort of the authorities to demonstrate the fraudulency of perfectly proper claims.

Just recently it happened that a charming opera singer from Japan, who by the beauty of her voice had delighted thousands of Americans, has been detained at port until a count had been taken of Japanese noses, and the total compared with the number of Japanese noses rightfully present. She might have been barred for one day by the birth of a Japanese infant, and permitted to land the next day because the infant had failed to survive.

Thus was a refined and desirable woman subjected to indignity, and the immigration office made to appear rude and ridiculous.

Jealousy is the tabasco sauce of love.

The average woman acts first and then thinks it over afterward.

There is plenty of room at the top—and the rent is cheaper.

If paying one's debts is a virtue, very few men are strictly virtuous.

He is a mean man who withholds from his wife the praise that is due her.

SUBSTITUTES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The pest of the business world is the Substitute.

A man spends many years and much money developing a product and when he has created a demand for it, along come the rascals with substitutes and under sell.

But merchants need not complain. The whole business of life is vitiated by substitutes.

Religion is undoubtedly a good thing, for the object of religion is to cause sin to cease. But the greatest enemy of religion is the substitute or false religion, which compounds with sins and shows us the way to go on with them and yet appease our conscience.

Education is valuable, for education is the training of our native faculties. But its greatest foe is substitute education, which consists in stuffing the mind with useless knowledge and cramping our natural abilities into conventional shapes.

Organization is one of the best means for getting things done. But the average organization is a substitute for doing anything. When a group of people feel the call of duty in any direction, civic, moral or charitable, they meet, make speeches, elect officers, select committees, and go home with a sense of having discharged their responsibilities.

Government is a good thing, but it ought to consist in serving the people. But most governments are composed of those who do not serve the people but live as parasites upon them.

Love is the greatest thing in the world and develops all that is best in us. But the substitutes for love, including lust and a desire to be flattered, are life's poisons and not life's food.

Joy is a good thing, but the empty pleasure of self-indulgence, the mere relaxation of diversion and the septic delights of cruelty, which are but substitutes for joy, are like the crackling of thorns under a pot.

Aristocracy is a good thing, for it means the ascendancy of the superior virtues. But what is commonly called aristocracy is but a miserable substitute and snobbery.

Independence is a good thing. But self-will and stubbornness, which are its substitutes, are bad.

In fact, the principal effort of the devil is not devoted to a frontal attack upon the things which make life good and beautiful, but rather to an effort to induce us to adopt cheap and dangerous substitutes.

THE LISTENING POST

Now there's something warms your spirit that was hidden 'way down deep.
Something that was rare and splendid.
But it may have been asleep.

Just as when a seed lies waiting for the shower and the sun.

Till it breaks and bursts and opens and the tiny tendrils run up to greet the light and gladness up above the earth and mold.

There are friendly thoughts that awaken.
There are dreamings that unfold.

There are voices that were silent saying: "See the things to do!"

"See the needy who are waiting for the friendly deeds of you."

"See the sorrow that needs comfort."
"See the soul whence hope has fled."

"See the weeping who need comfort and the hungry to be fed."

There's a something in your spirit that perhaps you think is new.

But it isn't. It is merely your real self that's coming true.

It's the light upon you breaking of the need that's roundabout.

It's the best part of you waking and the goodness coming out.

It was there before this season, but was hidden 'way down deep underneath a lot of rubbish and perhaps was sound asleep.

You've been busy, very busy.
You have traded in the marts.

And the air you have been breathing isn't good for human hearts.

And you couldn't hear the voices and you couldn't know the tears for the jingle of the dollars that was sounding in your ears.

And the spirit that has warmed you.
That has made the new dreams start.

Lay beneath a lot of rubbish.
Hidden way down in your heart.

For your brow was lined and furrowed.

And your life was much a care.
And you wanted to be happy.

But somehow you lost your share.
And you couldn't seem to find it.

And you sought it in the mart.
While it slept, a spirit hidden.

Somewhere deep down in your heart.

Then one day perhaps you noticed it was getting well along toward the middle of December.

You remembered some old song about Christmas and the carols and the holly and the tree.

And there came a mellow memory of days that used to be.

And the dreams kept coming, coming, and you quite forgot the pen in your hand and heard a carol: "Peace on earth, good will to men."

And your thoughts went back to boyhood, and you wandered far apart from the things about and felt again that spirit in your heart that sent you once singing carols in a treble tone and clear.

There was something about Christmas coming only once a year.

There were wise men on a journey with their frankincense and myrrh and a baby in a manger, and the radiant face of Her.

Yes, how clearly you remembered!
And how sharply came the thought.

As you cast the long year over.
Of how wholly you forgot.

All the glories of real living.
All the dreams that glow and bless.

In the heaps of useless rubbish
That you searched for happiness.

Yes, there's something wakes your spirit—
It's the glory that was His.

There's a new dream wakes within you,
Christmas—yes, that's what it is!

JAMES W. FOLEY.

SONGS OF THE POETS

The Sea—By Richard Henry Stoddard (1825-1903).

Through the night, through the night
In the saddest unrest,
Wrapped in white, all in white,
With her babe on her breast,
Walks the mother so pale,
Staring out on the gale,
Through the night!

Through the night, through the night,
Where the sea lifts the wreck,
Land in sight, close in sight,
On the surf-flooded deck,
Stands the father so brave,
Driving on to his grave,
Through the night!

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

THE DERBY'S ADVANTAGE

[Chicago News]

Although a derby hat is not an imposing head-dress, it is much easier to keep on, as Charles of Hapsburg now knows, than a jeweled crown.

SEEDS OF HOPE

[Brooklyn Eagle]

Even if there be seeds of future trouble it is well to be hopeful that difficulties ending in strikes may be avoided hereafter. Every adjustment peaceably arrived at is a good augury. We have had one such adjustment. We can insist upon having others when occasion arises. But in the meanwhile it will be wise for the railroads, on the one side, and their employees, on the other, clearly to recognize the fact that the government, representing the people of the United States, has a large and controlling voice in the settlement of all disputes affecting transportation, that the railroads as public utilities are neither

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA STEWART

An odd story is going the rounds of the press concerning the New Jersey woman who felt that her husband, because of his constant fault finding, no longer loved her, and determined to rid him of her presence. Leaving her once happy home, she left a note telling him of her decision and ended the note with a woman's postscript: "You will find your soup in the oven."

She hadn't ceased to care for his stomach's welfare. It wasn't the work that caused her to leave. At the very last, with spirit crying out for a readjustment of life, she had thought of material comfort for him. Of course this probably was just the result of habit, but what did the habit indicate? Effort to do her share, kindness of thought, fair dealing. Just where did the break between this and endurance come?

Foolish to try to fathom? Maybe. But so many domestic difficulties hinge on such small things. Don't they? So many more domestic battles are fought concerning the little failings of one or the other, the little readjustments of family machinery. What is it that makes living together possible or impossible for a couple? Of course there are major causes at times. But how often it is that minor incidents stretch patience to the breaking point?

It seems tragic for two human souls to quarrel because the coffee isn't to the liking, or because John will leave his cigar ashes on the library table, or because Carry fidgets while the evening paper is being read. Out of such infinitesimal causes grow the rifts in harmony that shatter the sweetest of dreams.

Why not "remember the soup" instead?

the exclusive possession of those who have invested money in their stocks and bonds nor a form of industry to be milked at pleasure by those who draw wages from it. The growth of that spirit on both sides should be encouraged by recent experiences.

BACKING AN OFFICIAL

[Hartford Courant]

Massachusetts, as we have observed before, has a very efficient registrar of motor vehicles and it is gratifying to find that the state realizes the fact and proposes to sustain his official acts.

Recently Registrar Goodwin revoked the license of a man named Saltman, a resident of Cambridge, who had been convicted three times within a year on charge of speeding. Saltman appealed to the division of highways of the department of public works, alleging that one of the convictions was "framed up" by a police officer and the clerk of the court without action by the judge. He further asserted that the police in Waltham have been persecuting him because, on one occasion, mud from his car spattered on the dress of a daughter of a Waltham policeman.

Registrar Goodwin believes that the best defense is an offense so he told the members of the highway division that the place for Saltman to test the records of the Worcester court was in the superior court and not before them. He then told them that Saltman is so closely allied with certain politicians that he considers himself privileged to drive as fast as he likes and depends upon them to keep him out of trouble. The division agreed with Registrar Goodwin and it is now up to Saltman to seek relief in other quarters.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Consider for a moment the four corners formed by the crossing of two city streets.

In the business district each of these corners is likely to reach the property line. Thus the view to the autoist coming towards the corner from any direction is confined to whatever is in front of him.

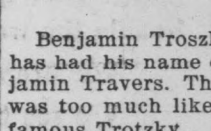

As to seeing sideways and thus being aware of what may be approaching at right angles, he is worse handicapped than a horse with blinders.

It is possible to see through a grindstone but not through a brick wall. (Of course this ignores the potency of the X-ray, not available anyhow, to a speeding autoist.)

These few remarks lead up to what might as well have been said in the beginning, which is, that there is reckless folly in driving towards a cross street just as though there was no likelihood of meeting any obstacle there.

Carelessness at crossings is criminality accentuated, for it subjects others than the driver to peril, including among probable victims the most cautious autoists.

There positively is no protection against the speed maniac who remains as crazy at crossings as in the distance between them.

HENRY JAMES

Benjamin Troszky of New York has had his name changed to Benjamin Travers. The original name was too much like that of the infamous Troszky.

Troszky's friend Brisbane is inclined to resent this, and intimates that Benjamin later may regret the course taken "in case the Russian experiment succeeds."

Being a good American and a good bolshevik at the same time is the assumption of a difficult dual role. Few besides Brisbane have the peculiar courage to try it.

Winsor McCay, a cartoonist, is capable of getting as wrong as his editorial associates, which means that he goes far and blindly.

He has pictured the earth as a pilgrim. The path just ahead of the timid pilgrim is closed by three interrogation points, each many times the bulk of the earth.

McCay ought to know that a part of a thing never is greater than the whole.

He ought to know also that he has created a silly and pointless picture.

Last week a British cruiser arrived in the harbor of Los Angeles. The incident was not marked by the firing of a single hostile gun.

Even at the announcement that other British ships were to join the first, the populace obstinately declined to shudder.

Perhaps the Hearst idea that Great Britain is about to eat the United States raw, leaving a few scraps to Japan, is not founded on fact.

A chronic alarmist calls attention to the shipment of eleven million of feet of cedar to Japan. "Eleven million of cedar" will build (roughly) eleven thousand airplanes of the bomber type, and they should worry even if they do have to scrap their great battleship Matsu.

Such is the comment of a (some times) American editor. It may be accepted as the gesture, so to speak, of a frenzied and febrile mentality.

The amount of lumber mentioned could be employed to build even a greater number of caskets than airplanes, a large supply of furniture, supply much interior finish, and leave a lot to be devoted to the treatment of certain diseases, evidently in need of patients. It has sent an offer to ministers of a real good two-bladed jack-knife, for lists of members of their blocks, who suffer from the maladies in question.

Each patient won out of the lists means a reward of $25 to the minister.

Thus does the commercial instinct couple itself with science for the healing of the people. But no preacher has been found desirous of acquiring a jack-knife, and the scheme halts for the present.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

We had a little party last night. One of the quiet, small and early humdrum little parties which conditions beyond our control force us to give nowadays. You know the sort I mean—oyster cocktails, dry roast turkey, ice water punch, and a demitasse to put a little kick in the occasion. About 10 o'clock the men all begin to wriggle and insinuate that they must be going soon.

"Going to have a big day at the office tomorrow," they say. Odd how many men are anticipating big days at the office nowadays. Anyhow, every now and then some one would mention a mutual friend. Then Frank K. Wisdom would get the floor.

"He's a good boy," Frank would say. "Perfectly all right. Kind to his mother, a hustler in business, and has just bought him a fine house. But—"

Mr. Watson would conclude his remarks with a few tablespoonfuls of tobacco sauce. Everything was all right with the mutual friend, except maybe ten or a dozen minor matters. By the time he got through the mutual friend must have developed blisters along the outer edge of his ears. Somehow the party didn't respond to Mr. Wisdom's threnody on the social cymbals. A pale silence always fell. By and by some one would start a new subject in a halting sort of a way. It always took some time to recover from the effects of Wizzie's attacks.

This morning Wisdom came into the office with a new resolution. He said that after he got home last night he had reviewed his contribution to the evening and had decided that he wouldn't do it any more. He said that he had determined that knocking was not only not good form but it was not good business. Every man and woman there, he said, must have gone away with the impression that he had his hammer at work on all the world. That sort of thing not only decreases one's popularity but starts the other anvil artists at work.

"It just occurred to me," he said, "that about everything I said last night in derogation of other people might have been twisted a bit and applied to me. I'm going to quit. My job today is to go around and apologize to those who heard me throw bricks at other people's windows last night, and hereafter if I cannot say anything good I'm not going to talk at all."

It is a grand idea if he follows it up. Most of us have so many chinks in our armor that we hate to see any one start throwing stones.

OLD ARTICLE X IS WITH US AGAIN SAYS W.J. BRYAN

Reviews 4-Power Agreement and Finds Old
Bugaboo in It

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN
Copyright, 1921, by United Press

The four power agreement covering the islands of the Pacific raises a question which was not suggested by the preliminary announcement, a question not unlike that which prevented the ratification of the Versailles treaty by the United States senate.

Article 10 was objected to because it created a moral obligation which was valuable only in proportion as it suspended the constitution of the United States by depriving congress of its freedom of action when the time for action arrived.

Article 2 is open to the same objection, if it can be construed as requiring the United States to join any action decided upon.

In case the rights of either of the four contracting parties are threatened by the aggressiveness of any other power, the contracting parties shall communicate with one another fully and frankly in order to arrive at an understanding as to the most efficient measures to be taken jointly and separately to meet the exigencies of the particular situation.

What do the contracting parties mean?

Jointly and separately would seem to imply an obligation. If it were jointly or separately it might be construed as permitting each nation to decide its own course, but why leave doubt as to the meaning? Each one of the 30 arbitration treaties to which reference was made in the advance notes regarding this agreement contains a reservation explicitly stating that the parties can act independently at the conclusion of their investigation.

In other words the conference seems to have borrowed from the league of nations covenant the one provision that did most to prevent ratification of the Versailles treaty.

Of course, this agreement is between four powers only, while the league of nations was expected to include all the nations and the four power agreement only related to the islands in the Pacific while the covenant of the league of nations covered the possessions of the nations but the principle is the same, viz: Should the United States enter into an agreement by the terms of which it commits future action to the determination of other nations, so that it must choose between a suspension of its constitution and a breach of faith?

Mrs. M. Bredimus and son, Ben, formerly of Des Moines, Iowa, have come to Glendale to spend the winter with Mrs. Fred Williams of West Garfield avenue and Mrs. E. Hollingsworth of Yorba Linda. The guests are mother and daughter of Mrs. Williams and Mrs. E. Williams. They have been spending the past year with relatives in Seattle, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Loeb of 1518 South Glendale avenue are proud parents of a fine baby boy, born Sunday night at the Glendale Research hospital.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

A LITERARY QUIZ

J. W. FOLEY

"No, I ain't wantin' a single thing," he said as he sat him down. In the office chair and crossed his legs. "I just happened into town And I thought I'd come and make a call. I read your stuff sometimes, And I'm here to say, if it's good or bad, I notice it always rhymes. So I told Ma if I had the time and you wasn't feelin' mean Or out o' sorts I'd take a look at the poetry machine; And get some points on how it's done in the course of a friendly call. And if it's a secret or patent-right, why, no harm done at all."

"I knowed a poetry feller once, down where I used to be, And he wrote eppitafits on stones, but he never wrote none for me. He wrote them short ones, short and pat, like: 'Ebenezer Jones Lies here at peace, a noble man and kind, God rest his bones!' He did it easy too, and well, and he had his rhymes on all The gravestones put up in his day and his charges was quite small. But the place was awful healthy then and customers was few, And he'd go along for mebbe a month without a thing to do."

"And the feller nearly starved to death and finally moved away But he wrote some mighty lastin' stuff and it's there to this very day; He didn't write near as much as you—no, I'd say nowhere nigh. But I'm bound to say for what he did the quality was high. And I've often wondered how poets did. It's a trick of course I know. Of puttin' words in a line just right, but how do you make it go? Or where do you get your ideas from and how do you make 'em rhyme? And how do you make the lines come out the same length every time?"

"I s'pose it's a lot in practice, too. If a feller does one a day He ought to get to be turns 'em out in a pretty handy way. But how do you get the feet in right so the swing of it don't go lame? And what comes first then you get a start, the verses or the name? Does it run right out without a hitch when you get right down to biz, Or is it cold and thick and slow like cold molasses is? I'm kind o' curious to know the way and why and how. And if I should give you a good idee, could you write one there, right now?"

So I made him a line and much like this, and another to rhyme with, too And he said: "That eppitafit feller, Boy, had nothin' at all on you. He turned 'em out as quick as that, and he didn't half way try. And mebbe not as long as yours but the quality was high. I often wondered where he went, since the time he went away. But mebbe he's got an office, too, and writin' his One a Day. 'Cause he had the grit, I know he had, and the poetry genius, too: Just wanted to write the whole day long, and not have a thing to do!"

BRALYS ATTEND LEAGUE SESSION

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Braly of 505 North Brand boulevard attended a three day session of the Colorado River Improvement association at Riverside, Mr. Braly being a delegate for the League of the South-west and Mrs. Braly being appointed by Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson to represent the Tuesday Afternoon club. Secretary Fall, secretary of the interior of the United States, gave a splendid speech, stating that the federal government is willing to appropriate money for the development of this territory and felt that the power and growth of it could soon pay back all that had been expended. The meeting adjourned after a session of three days and went from Riverside to San Diego where another three-day session is to be held. Mr. and Mrs. Braly stayed at Mission while attending the meetings.

CATHOLICS GATHER
DUBLIN, Dec. 13.—The Catholic hierarchy of Ireland went into secret session at University College today to decide on its attitude toward the Anglo-Irish treaty. The meeting was called by Cardinal Logue. As the church dignitaries assembled, it was considered almost certain they would approve the pact.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The proposed "quadruple Pacific union" was denounced as a "military alliance" by Senator Borah of Idaho. In the senate today, during a speech in which he severely criticized the arms conference for failure to take steps to eliminate submarines and poison gas from warfare.

'MYSTERY MAN' OF EUROPE PARIS BAND HEAD

Sir Basil Pointed Out as One Who Put Constantine
Back on Throne

LONDON, Dec. 13.—Europe's mystery man, supposed to pull the invisible strings by which puppet kings are seated or unseated, and to have a hand in almost every European intrigue, is paying a brief visit to London.

Incidentally he has just been photographed publicly for the first time in years, if not for the first time in his life. The photograph discloses a white goateed gentleman of 71, somewhat resembling a slightly portly Buffalo Bill; black-clothed and distinguished-looking.

"Who's Who" gives him as Sir Basil Zaharoff, G. B. E. (Knight Grand Cross of the British Empire) holder of the grand cross of the French Legion of Honor, and a banker of Paris.

Popular report gives this Anglo-French-Grecian-Russian holder of a British knighthood and the highest class of the Legion of Honor credit for being the man who put King Constantine back on his throne, financed a couple of Greek wars, and who, anytime he gets a new idea, visits the proper premier and "puts it across."

Sir Basil was born of a Russian father and a Greek mother. He is French by nationality and English by education. He is at home in London, Paris, Athens, Madrid and Monte Carlo. He can go to any European capital and tell the ordinary resident things about the city.

He has a palatial residence in Paris, on the Avenue Hoche. There a beaten-gold dinner service, with jewel-inlaid spoons. It is at Monte Carlo, however, that his entertainments reach their climax. There, where he has an Arabian Night-like suite at the Hotel de Paris, he entertains, as he does in Paris or London, ministers, peers and bankers, and, according to gossip, arranges for his plans to be effected.

Sir Basil's wealth is estimated at anything from $100,000,000 up. It is probably "up," as he owns all sorts of property, from theaters to half of Monte Carlo. He controls an army of banks and armament firms. He is supposed to be financing bankrupt governments one day, influencing cabinet the next. He entertains lavishly and gives as lavishly, though he is a business man whose touch is apparently Midas-like. He gave $2,500,000 a year to the Greek government during the Balkan wars, and is supposed to have financed Constantine in his return to the throne. He gave Athens a huge wireless station, helped the Dominions establish chairs of aviation at the Universities of Paris and Petrograd, besides one at Oxford University.

Newspapers and politicians frequently attack Sir Basil. He never replies, and is never interviewed.

Col. Guinness said recently in the house of commons, referring to Lloyd George's friendship for Sir Basil: "The voice behind the throne, to be more accurate, the Presidential chair," a thrust at the Prime Minister's control of British affairs, "probably Sir Basil Zaharoff's."

The present visit to England has been connected with the crisis in Greek affairs following the attempt to crush Turkey. If Greek ministers now here to negotiate a loan are successful, it will be Sir Basil they may thank.

WITNESSES TELL
HAITI OUTRAGES

Reports, If True, Show Up
Very Bay for Uncle
Sam

SANTO DOMINGO (via naval radio delayed), Dec. 11.—Stories of alleged military atrocities fill the record of the first ten days of hearing by the senatorial committee investigating American occupation of Haiti and the Dominican republic. Col. Cook Rossier testified that on June 19, 1919, he saw her eight children, seven girls and one boy, killed by forces under Captain Becker.

Hearaux Belloni testified that in June, 1920, his father and mother were taken from their home at midnight and shot, and that their home was burned. Salvar Fleurbaey testified she saw her father, mother, sister and two young brothers shot. Joaquin Nord gave a detailed account of the killing of his wife.

Illeodor Romain testified that forces under Lieutenant Williams beat his mother to death and then compelled him to bury the body. Former Communal Magistrate Massade told the committee that these witnesses were probably friendly to the Cacos Guerilla forces.

The senatorial commission arrived in Santo Domingo today after five days spent in the interior and a four-day hearing at Port au Prince, Haiti. Hearings were held at Santa Marie, Gonaves, Malsade, Hinche and Cape Haitien. Eight witnesses were heard at Hinche and sixteen at Malsade.

Columbus P. T. A.—The Columbus Avenue P. T. A. will have their regular monthly meeting on Thursday at which time the children will give the Christmas program. Refreshments will be served.

HEIGHTS TRACT SALES TO $40,000

Large Lots in New Tract
Are Selling Rapidly
Say Agents

More than $40,000 worth of sales in lots have been made in Kenneth Heights tract, since the opening sale on Saturday. This tract is proving to be one of the most popular subdivisions in the northeastern section of the city. In every particular it is a strictly high class subdivision. The location is all that could be desired for home sites, the lots are large and the view of the foothills and valley from these lots cannot be surpassed.

All of the lots in this tract are large, the smallest being 100x180 feet and the largest something like an acre and a half. This is the only tract that is being sold at this time that is located north of Kenneth road. The street work including paved roadway, sidewalks and curbs, and the public utilities, such as water, gas, electricity, telephone etc., are all in and are included in the price of the lots.

Arthur Campbell and William N. McMillan, both well known realty men of this valley, are the selling agents for the tract, while Messrs. Huntley and Evans are the owners. A number of the buyers of lots in this tract are already having plans drawn for homes to be erected soon. Restrictions on this tract are such as will insure the erection of a very good class of residences.

HEAD STUFFED
BY CATARRH? USE
A HEALING CREAM

If your nostrils are clogged, your throat distressed, or your head is stuffed by nasty catarrh or a cold, apply a little pure, antiseptic, germ destroying cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing inflamed, swollen membranes and you get instant relief.

How good it feels. Your nostrils are open. Your head is clear. No more hawking, snuffling, dryness or struggling for breath. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from any druggist. Colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stuff stuffed up. Relief is sure.—Advertisement.

During Opening Sale of Fifth Unit, We Will Give 5 Per Cent Discount From This Price

The sale of the first, second, third and fourth units of FAIRVIEW was remarkable, AND WE HAVE SOLD 35 LOTS IN THIS 5TH UNIT IN 4 DAYS. We believe we can safely say that no subdivision in the Glendale district has ever been sold in so short a time. You ask why?

Because it is in a beautiful, almost ideal location in the most rapidly growing section of Glendale, and is being sold at prices so low and terms so reasonable that almost everybody who hears about it and really wants a home, feel that they cannot miss the opportunity.

To appreciate the value of what we are offering, we would only ask that a prospective purchaser examine all nearby and far away property and make comparisons as to the desirability price, terms, restrictions, etc.

Such a comparison cannot fail to convince that the lots we are offering in FAIRVIEW are wonderfully reasonable in price for this class of property.

Temporary homes under suitable restrictions are permitted. Come out to FAIRVIEW today. Bring $50.00 and get a lot. Drive out West Broadway and San Fernando Road to Vine Avenue (opposite F. L. Menely Window Shade Factory), then one block to right to tract office at Vine Avenue and Fourth street, or phone and we will call and take you out to the tract. The Tract Agent is on the ground every day.

In Perfect Running Order

The successful and far-seeing manufacturer is very careful to see that the machines in his factory are always kept in perfect running order.

He employs a corps of experts whose sole duty it is to see that these machines are in running order and who, when necessary, adjust same.

It is vastly more important for you to take care of that most precious of all machines, THE HUMAN MACHINE, yet how few do it. The average man takes little or no interest in matters concerning Health until he has lost that Health in a perfectly foolish and inexcusable manner.

So long as he can keep at high pressure in his chase for the almighty dollar he does so regardless of the damage to his health. If he were a manufacturer he would not dream of subjecting one of his machines (which by the way could be easily replaced) to such a strain without having it periodically overhauled and if necessary adjusted.

You may now enjoy Health—Make up your mind to KEEP Healthy.

Remember that when damaged beyond repair your Human Machine cannot be replaced.

Let a competent Chiropractor give you a Spinal Analysis at stated periods.

Make sure that your Human Machine can stand the strain to which you subject it. If necessary let him give you CHIROPRACTIC VERTEBRAL ADJUSTMENTS. They will relieve the nerve pressure which is caused by subluxated (displaced) vertebrae (small bones of the spine) and the result will be that the vital force will flow uninterruptedly from the brain through the nerves to the various organs, allowing them to function normally.

Take care of your Human Machine. Be sure that your spine is in normal condition.

You will be HAPPY, HEALTHY and SUCCESSFUL in your business.
